Well, here it is, the next installment of everyone's favorite show. Kiba 32. For those of you who incessantly hit the refresh button on the Download pages, you know this has already been up for two hours, I was just feeling lazy in writing this up though.

Anyway, I know this one should be good, I've only watched up to 30 myself, but if what I've seen has been any indication this one will be enjoyable. So, hurry over to the Download page and grab this one. If you don't have an account already, get one, it's free and easy.

As a final note, there are still forums to check out. We're over 500 members now, but there's always room for more. Oh, and again, if you can spare it Kyuuketsuki could really use some donations both for St0rmGaming and for the sites. (If you have no idea what I'm talking about check here)
